

Linda Teague

Linda Teague first became interested in photography after buying her first digital camera. Living in Brookings, Oregon, with the Pacific coast on one side and the mountains on the other, she found plentiful opportunities to photograph beautiful scenes. She continues to photograph the beautiful landscapes, animals, and flowers abundant in her new home state, Texas.

Once Teague moved to Brenham, Texas, she joined the Brenham Fine Art League and the Downtown Brenham Fine Art Gallery. Having always wished she could paint, Teague was thrilled when Tina Szajko, whose paintings Teague admired, said she was willing to take her as a student. She has continued taking lessons from Tina and has also taken workshops from Janita Jackson, Patsy Supak, Charlie Bullock, and Patty Pendergast.

Teague has done paintings in oil, pastel, and acrylic. She states that she enjoys painting because it challenges her and brings her pleasure from creating something pretty. She hopes to keep learning and improving her painting skills so that each new painting is better than the one before.
